

FILM FIGHTING WORKSHOPS

from Fight Designer, LLC.

March 28th, 1-5pm.

Intro to Film Fighting

This class is perfect for the martial artist or stage combatant wanting to learn how to adapt their skills for fighting on camera. Topics covered include camera awareness, playing the angles, basic on-set protocol, and how to use the medium to make your fights look good. Everyone will get time in front of the camera, with time to analyze the results as a group.

$45 pre-registration, $50 at the door.

April 4th, 1-5pm

Tricks of the Trade

This class delves into how we can use video or film to really push the limits of what we can show in-camera. Creative use of angles, editing, props, and some very minor stunt gear can help us make superhuman stuntmen/women out of just about anyone. Our hits can be harder, our falls can be higher, our moves flashier, or our violence more convincing. The emphasis here is on techniques that could be available to the typical low budget Seattle area production. While the stunt performers will get to have the most fun, this class could also be of great interest to anyone wanting to direct, shoot, or coordinate action scenes, and we may get participants from several areas of production. Those willing to get messy may get to play with blood effects.

$45 pre-registration, $50 at the door.

April 18th, 1-5pm

Modern Firearms for the Stage and Screen

Gun handling skills are essential for modern action scenes on the stage or the screen. We'll cover both safety and style, with a focus on modern police/military tactical firearms use. Learn how to stage a gunfight that's safe and reads as a FIGHT! Besides basic handling, we'll look at the specialized tools of our trade, carrying, drawing, reloading, and reholstering, weapons disarms/retention, and small unit tactics. We'll also explore reactions to gunshots and blood effects. Everyone who wishes to will get to fire blanks, as well as handle a variety of weaponry.

$50 pre-registration, $55 at the door.
